

$20,000 IN GOLD IS STOLEN IN TRANSIT

Ingots Were Being Sent From Ottoman Bank, Constantinople, to Paris.

NO TRACE OF THE THIEVES

Each Case Crossed at Each Frontier Resolved—Many Similar Robberies.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
LONDON, Nov. 17.—Somewhere between Constantinople and Paris $20,000 in gold ingots was stolen last week from a shipment of $1,000,000. There is no trace of the thieves.
The gold was being sent from the Ottoman Bank in Constantinople to the Ottoman Bank here. It was sealed in forty packages. The million was intact when it was sent, but it was found missing on Thursday, but a count at the bank showed that $20,000 was missing.
Each case was sealed at each frontier crossed. The French police insist that the robbery did not take place in France.

For more than a year European banks, merchants and police have been harassed by a band of international thieves. Last week $20,000 out of a shipment of $1,000,000 from the Bank of England to the Ottoman Bank in Constantinople was stolen. The gold was in the form of ingots, and the thieves apparently succeeded in getting all the way. Upon arrival at Constantinople the two cases were found to be full of lead instead of gold. The two were sent back to England for expert examination. They had reached Alexandria with the original seals unbroken. It was discovered later that the seals had been tampered with.

In October of last year a registered letter containing $20,000 sent from New York to the Commercial Bank of Milan was stolen between Turin and Milan. The thief tried it to the French frontier near Milan, but didn't find the thieves. In January, this year, $25,000 in transit from Hamburg to Rio de Janeiro was stolen in a London street.

Rear Admiral Badger, including thirty American bluejackets, including thirty in his private apartments at the Vauxhall. The party gave the apostolic benediction to the sailors and made a short speech urging them to be good Christians and good sailors.

ABENHEIM CREDITORS BENEFIT.

Bank of India to Return Diamonds Received From Japan.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
LONDON, Nov. 17.—Creditors of the late Abenheim Company of New York and London will benefit by a court decision given today which ordered the Bank of India to return to the company in bankruptcy of the company a number of diamonds received from the Japanese branch of the firm at the time of its failure in London.
The question was whether or not the diamonds were hypothecated as security for a loan of $25,000. Richard Abenheim had been on the stand and the court ruled in favor of the creditors.

The purchase was made for $100,000.

FERDINAND'S STAR SETTING.

Report of Bulgarian King's Contemplated Abdication Reiterated.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
LONDON, Nov. 17.—Despite the denial of the Bulgarian legation here that King Ferdinand is contemplating abdication, the belief is growing in London that the king's star is setting. He expressed a desire to come to Berlin recently to support the Kaiser, but it was said he was informed that the visit would be useless.
There is in favor of King Ferdinand a strong opinion, as it fears that the king would be influenced by the promises of the Kaiser, and would like to see the Bulgarian monarch lose his throne as a result of the provocation of the war between the members of the Balkan league.

Mechanics Close Shop as Protest Against Registration Law.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
PANAMA, Nov. 17.—All the retail Chinese mechanics, 1,500 in all, in the city of Panama, closed their stores today in protest against the law obliging them to take out new registration papers for a fee or be deported.
The closing of the stores and laundries is a considerable hardship on the Chinese, who are the mainstay of the city. The police will take action to compel the owners to serve their customers.

PEACE IN ULSTER PROBABLE.

Report of Compromise Over Home Rule Generally Believed.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
LONDON, Nov. 17.—Although there is no official confirmation of the report that the Government is about to offer a compromise to Ulster on the home rule bill exempting that province from the act for a term of years, it is generally regarded that the report is close to the mark.
It is understood, however, that it is to be submitted only as a basis for discussion, and present indications are that its acceptance is very unlikely. The Nationalists look upon the plan as impairing the idea of Irish unity and the Unionists feel that the temporary respite will not remove their objections to the bill.

John E. Redmond, the Nationalist leader, said in a speech at Northampton today that his party would welcome a settlement by consent, but he added, "We are not going to sacrifice in the moment of victory the fruits of our long battle."
An appeal is published from the British League to support Ulster. The league calls for recruits to help the Government fight for the preservation of the union with England if the Liberal Government refuses to appeal to the country.
"We want men who have been trained to bear arms and accustomed both to command and to obey," the appeal says. It is signed by many prominent Unionists, including the Duke of Bedford, Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, Viscount Castlereagh and Viscount Lewisham.

MODERN WOMAN TOO MANLIKE, HE ASSERTS

Noted English Authority Criticizes Their "Bucolic Look" and Lack of Charm.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Dr. T. C. Shaw, a noted authority on medico-psychological problems, lecturing this evening on "The Nervous Factor in Woman's Health," said that the excessive physical development which women of today are seeking is a mistake. He said that the modern woman of today, he went on, has less reverence for authority than her mother and has fewer home interests.
"She," he added, "is bad for the marriage market. The sporting girl becomes too manlike. She shows her character too much to man and assumes a bucolic look."
Dr. Shaw asserted that the prevailing mode of short and tight skirts showing the figure is due to a desire on the part of women to be what men are and to do what men do. He considers that a mistake, and wonders how women allow it, as it is against their own interests. He said there is danger of a new kind of woman arising with whom men will have no sympathy. Taking the suffragette as an example, he said:
"For years men have endowed women with all the virtues and never thought of the other side of the picture. They know now that there is another side, that women can be just as obstinate, spiteful and devilish as men."

SPANISH RULERS IN PARIS.

King Alfonso and His Queen Cheered by Large Crowds.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
PARIS, Nov. 17.—King Alfonso and Queen Victoria of Spain arrived here today on their way to Vienna and other capitals. They were cheered by large crowds at the railroad station and in the streets leading to the hotel.
Queen Victoria went through the poorer quarters of Madrid on Saturday last and made presents of clothes to the needy. A crowd followed her shouting: "Viva la Reina!"

EARLE KIDNAPS HIS SON.

Artist, With Aid of Woman, Gets Boy Away From French School.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Ferdinand Pinner, Earle, the artist, assisted by a young woman known as Mrs. Evans, managed to kidnap his son Harold from the Ecole Aquitaine, La Motte-Bouillon, on Sunday, November 9. It became known today. The boy had been placed there by his mother, the first Mrs. Earle.
Earle has frequently seen his son since his arrival in Europe last spring, but Mrs. Earle insisted that witnesses should always be present. These meetings were held in the home of Mrs. Earle's brothers.

FOWLER DECIDES TO FIGHT INDICTMENT

Alleged Bagman Declines to Talk to Whitman and Gives $5,000 Bail.

HE PLEADS "NOT GUILTY"

McGuire May Testify To-morrow—Lectures Won't Hasten Sulzer's Appearance.

Everett Fowler, whose friends have been advising him to tell District Attorney Whitman all he knows about campaign contributions from State highway contractors, decided yesterday not to make a statement at present. Counseled by Martin W. Littleton he elected first to make a fight on the authority of a New York county Grand Jury to indict him.
But notwithstanding the declaration that the question of jurisdiction would be carried to the highest court in the State it was made clear in behalf of Mr. Fowler that he might decide to give Mr. Whitman an explanation of his activities in the campaigns of 1911 and 1912.

Neither Mr. Fowler nor his counsel likes the word "confession." Those who questioned them were led to believe that "explanation" or plain "statement" would be more proper to describe what Mr. Fowler may have to say to the District Attorney.

The matter of jurisdiction did not appear to worry the District Attorney. The raising of that question was anticipated at his conference with Attorney-General Carmody a week ago. After that conference Mr. Carmody said he would direct every District Attorney in the State to assist Mr. Whitman, and that if the circumstances demanded it Mr. Whitman might be designated Special Deputy Attorney-General to try any of the cases arising from the John Doe proceedings.

Will Try to Convince Judge.
Before that point is reached Mr. Whitman will try to convince Judge Crane that the cashing of Seneca P. Hull's check in New York and its delivery to the Democratic State committee in this city were such necessary features of the alleged extortion as to bring the trial of the matter under the jurisdiction of the New York county authorities.

Mr. Littleton was engaged to represent Mr. Fowler at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Shortly after noon the two went before Judge Crane in Part I of the Court of General Sessions.

The defendant desired to plead not guilty with leave to withdraw the plea within reasonable time and to make such motions as may be deemed necessary," said Mr. Littleton.

He added that he desired the usual ten days. No objection was made by Mr. Whitman and Judge Crane agreed to the arrangement. Bail was fixed at $5,000. The bond was furnished by the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company of Baltimore. This is a company which does a large business in bonding barge canal and State highway contractors.

George H. McMurphy, who is the representative of the company in Syracuse and through this agency has become acquainted with many contractors, from across the river, after ward not campaign collections.

HEARS OF $40,000 COLLECTIONS.

District Attorney Whitman has been informed that in 1911 Mr. Fowler collected $40,000. He expects to sift this information during the coming week.

Alexander C. Hays, who is the State Attorney for the Republican State committee, conferred with Mr. Whitman yesterday. He declined to say what he had learned, but he said he had been left to conjecture that the District Attorney was about to turn his attention to collections for the Republican campaign fund.

Assistant District Attorney Clark went to Albany with the idea of giving particular attention to the story that contracts for the repairing of highways were let through the various county chairmen and that the contractors afterward met with a man then high in authority in the Highway Department and shared their profits with him.

Mr. Clark took a number of subpoenas with him and has instructions to use them whenever he can find a man who appears to know anything about this end of the grafting game.

DIX SEES CARMODY.

Ex-Governor Meets Attorney-General After Call on Glenn.

ALBANY, Nov. 17.—After ex-Gov. Dix called on Gov. Glenn today he held a conference with Attorney-General Carmody. Since the ex-Governor retired charges have been made that the Highway Commission was responsible for grafting. His visit to the Attorney-General was said to have been to discuss these charges. Mr. Dix is said to have given the Attorney-General all the information he has on the subject of highways.

KAISER'S BAN ON THE TANGO.

Officers Mustn't Dance It in Uniform. According to Report.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
BERLIN, Nov. 17.—The newspaper Salon says to-day that Emperor William is so much opposed to the modern dances that he has forbidden officers of the German army and navy to dance the tango, the one step and the two step while in uniform. Furthermore, they must keep away from places where these dances are held.

The Kaiser's ban on the tango has upset the arrangements of a majority of Berlin hostesses, among whom the tango was generally accepted as the correct thing. One of the first social functions of the season was the Countess Lottwitz's tango-tea, where Ambassador Gerard and many German officers were present.

It is believed that the Kaiser's objection to the dance arose from the Kaiser's criticism of it.

Militant Suffragette Gets a Month in Holloway.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Imprisonment for a month at hard labor in Holloway jail was the sentence imposed today on a militant suffragette, who on Saturday threw a tomato and a hammer to Justice Lawrence when he was presiding over a suffragette trial at the Old Bailey.

An inspection of the hammer revealed the following inscription on it: "No submission to a Government which tortures women."

O'GORMAN NOT AFTER MURPHY'S POSITION

Denies Indignantly That He Aspires to Leadership of Tammany.

Senator O'Gorman says he won't take the leadership of Tammany Hall, no matter what happens. He denied indignantly the stories circulated in the last few days to the effect that he and his law partner, George Gordon Battle, are planning a raid on Tammany Hall with the expectation that the Senator, or some personal representative of his, will succeed Charles F. Murphy.

Mr. O'Gorman, who was in his office in Wall street yesterday, said he couldn't discuss politics nor Mr. Battle's plan for the regeneration of Tammany at the moment. When he was asked if the retirement of Charles F. Murphy must come before Tammany will return to power he made the same reply.

"Would you accept the leadership of Tammany Hall if Mr. Murphy were eliminated and the offer of leadership came to you in the proper way?" he was asked.

"This proposition is simply impossible," he said. "There is no circumstance that would cause me to accept any political position so long as I am United States Senator. There is enough work connected with the office to keep me busy. I am not mixing in politics."

"I have come here strictly on business. I have not discussed political conditions. Let me again emphasize that I do not aspire to the leadership of Tammany Hall or to any other political organization."

George Gordon Battle said yesterday that his plans for the regeneration of Tammany Hall were his own and that he undertook to speak for no one nor to bring anything else into the proposal.

"A political organization for the Democratic party in this city is provided for in the law," he said. "At present Tammany Hall is the political organization. If Tammany Hall is not doing its work properly it should be reformed, and the law gives the method by which the reform can be accomplished without the aid of Tammany."

It was pointed out yesterday that many Democrats who do not agree with the Tammany leadership are not enrolled and therefore cannot participate in the primaries next fall. They will not have a chance to enroll, unless the law is changed, before registration day of 1914. So they would not be able to act until the primaries of 1915.

Independent Democrats, the men who have come out against the present control in Fourteenth street fear that they cannot win.

ACCUSES YACHTSMAN OF FRAUD.

Ex-Assemblyman Wants Ex-Commander's Rule Ended in Cattle Co.

Ex-Assemblyman Charles A. Dana started suit in the United States District Court yesterday to annul two contracts under which Edwin D. Morgan, ex-commander of the New York Yacht Club, is acting as general manager of the Corralito Cattle Company, which raises cattle on 550,000 acres in Mexico.

Mr. Dana says the contracts were fraudulently made without the consent of the stockholders.

Mr. Dana alleges that Mr. Morgan received more than $22,000 in 1911 and 1912 and that reasonable value of his services is not more than $2,500 a year.

Grand Jury Waits on Riley's Decision

Indictments in Police Graft Cases Depend on His Answers To-day.

Whitman Gets New Facts

Is Told How Head of a Raising Squad Got Real Estate at a Bargain.

Although Dominick Riley is under subpoena to call at the District Attorney's office this morning it is possible that the Grand Jury will not act today regarding graft paid by the wireless wire tappers and clairvoyants. Grand Jury action depends largely upon the answers Riley makes.

If Riley finds himself in a position to answer these questions in the way it is hoped it is probable that an indictment will be returned immediately against a civilian at Police Headquarters.

A story which came to the attention of the District Attorney yesterday illustrates how a detective with authority may pick up a bargain in real estate. The detective, whose name is closely associated with the present inquiry, wanted to buy a house in Brooklyn. The house was owned by a woman whose husband operated poolrooms. She asked $15,000 for the house.

The detective did not want to pay that much, so, according to the story, he headed a raising squad and smashed into a poolroom owned by the husband. He used the axe in his raid, smashed hundreds of dollars worth of furniture and then made an arrest. A few days later he raided another poolroom owned by the husband. Shortly afterward the house was transferred to him. In the papers on file the price is given as $1 and other considerations. The other considerations are supposed to be $549, showing that the raise enabled the detective to buy the house at half price.

Testimony Involves Many.

A startling feature of yesterday's investigation was the fact that a large number of detectives are involved in the testimony that has been taken from those who have talked at length to the District Attorney—Frank Tarabaux, Paper Collar Joe Krakowsky, George McCrean, Mike Shea and Al Cohen, the last named formerly a detective. The District Attorney's office is prepared to ask for indictments against the four men originally accused—two high civilians at Police Headquarters.

Records Are Asked For.

Assistant District Attorney Grochul sent to Police Headquarters for a record of all the raids conducted by Dominick Riley. He expects to make an analysis of this record for comparison with other facts at his command.

It was learned that the mysterious person who went to Mr. Whitman's house Sunday night accompanied by District Attorney Grochul and Detective Maxwell of the District Attorney's staff was Mike Shea, the Bowery boy, former page in the House of Representatives, who became a clairvoyant and later was gotten between the clairvoyants and the representative of the Police Department, who has confessed. Shea has told all he knows.

There is a feeling at Police Headquarters that if Al Cohen, former detective, has told Mr. Whitman "all he knows" his revelations will take in more forms of graft than wireless wiretapping and clairvoyants.

EDNA HARDENBURGH RETURNS.

Missing Girl Had Got a Job, but Became Homeless.

Miss Edna Hardenburgh, the sixteen-year-old girl who disappeared from her home in Brooklyn on Thursday, was found yesterday. She had not been kidnapped, as was feared, but had grown tired of school, answered an advertisement, got work caring for the small children, grew homesick and then sought out her father in the County Court House in Manhattan.

The last seen of Miss Hardenburgh on Thursday was when she started across the graveyard racetrack on her way to school from her home at 31 Lake street. Her father, Louis V. D. Hardenburgh, a reporter, and her uncle, J. E. Hardenburgh, manager of a news association, had sought for her in vain. Yesterday she went to the New York County Court House, looking for her father, and a friend of Mr. Hardenburgh found her.

She said she answered in person an advertisement of Joseph Hare, a shoe dealer of 218 Graham avenue, Brooklyn, and went to work caring for the three small children of Mr. Hare. Homesickness proved too strong, and she left to find her father.

Mr. Hardenburgh did not see any newspapers during her absence from home and had given the shoe dealer a fictitious name. Mr. Hardenburgh visited Mr. Hare last night and verified his daughter's story.
